

Ones to watch

Website: The Selby

Charity: Art Against Knives

Model: Johanna Kneppers

Trend: One Arm Dress

By Sofia Redgrave, Fashion Editor (2009/10)

Tuesday 12 May 2009

Website: The Selby

Theselby.com features a collection of photographs by Todd Selby, featuring interesting people in their creative spaces. The website offers an intimate sneak preview into the lives and homes of celebrities, designers, artists and Hollywood agents. You are given the impression that Selby actually knows the people he is shooting. The website is organised into cities: in Brooklyn you can see Peaches Geldoph pose in her apartment. In London delve into Bella Howard's girly pad and look at Alexander Wang's Manhattan atelier.

Charity: Art Against Knives

Supported by the likes of Vivienne Westwood, Giles Deacon, Marios Schwab, Tracey Emin, Meadham Kirchhoff, Richard Nicoll and Rankin, this charity has some serious backing. On the 28th August 2008 Oliver Hemsley, a 20 year old fashion student from Central St Martin's, was stabbed repeatedly by a 15 year old in an unprovoked attack outside a pub in Shoreditch. This charity was set up by Oliver's friends to raise funds for him (Oliver is now paralysed from the neck down) and, most importantly, to raise awareness. An exhibition was held last Monday where all works of art were for sale along with an auction on the 5th. To donate or offer support visit www.artagainstknaves.com

Model: Johanna Kneppers

Tipped to be the most talented model of her generation, Johanna Kneppers exploded onto the scene this season on the runway of Balenciaga. Johanna came out of the blue from new agency in town, Just WM in Paris, which brackets great new faces and strong portfolios. Johanna was the first model from the agency to secure catwalk billing. The next step was to sign with Ford in New York joining the likes of Erin O'Connor. She currently resides in Paris.

Trend: One Arm Dress

As the asymmetrical dress goes from strength to strength in moving from avant-garde to commercial success, we have seen a new, more daring version emerge into the spotlight. Designers have found a new way to emphasise the imbalance and quirkiness of an asymmetrical design – add a sleeve, but only to one side. A design that takes architectural inspiration, it gives a focal point to any outfit and can add a modern twist to a classic design. Wear with dangly earrings that are not too long, and not too solid, as this will best bring attention to a graceful neck. Pictured: Hervé Léger.

Most Read

Discussed

1. What is the difference between tax evasion and tax avoidance?
2. Review: Little Mix - LM5
3. Opinion: Weighing up King of the North
4. Penalty for submitting work up to an hour late halved
5. How to depose a Conservative leader
6. Led Astray - The Case Against Greta Van Fleet

Write for Nouse Fashion

Get in touch with the editors

Join the Facebook group

More in Fashion

Work your wardrobe: Dress for Success

Scandi Style: Simple, Chic and Student Friendly

Winter Fashion: Embracing 'That 70s Style'

The Changing Face of Fashion

Steps to Minimalism - Why Cutting Back Gives More

The Man You Want To Be: A Tale of Shaddick

About Nouse
Who's Nouse
Website Credits
Contact Us
Advertising

Archives
Student Discounts
Print Editions
Mini-Sites
Nouse on Twitter
Nouse on Facebook
Nouse on Google+

© 1964–2018 Nouse

Policies |

